Publication in a reputable, peer reviewed journal should be the goal of every researcher, as this provides the most effective and permanent means of disseminating information to a large audience (Cole, 1994; Portney and Watkins, 1993). The aim of the 'Researcher' is to provide a forum to budding researcher to disseminate the outcome of their research to the public. No doubt research plays a crucial role in both learning from past policies and thinking about the future but it takes a certain amount of discipline to produce socially relevant quality research papers. The focus of research paper apart from academic upliftment and career development should be social upliftment. At the institutional level, expansion of basic infrastructure facilities, evolving new models of public-private partnership in scientific & social research, encouraging international collaboration and motivation is needed to produce quality research papers.

The 'Researcher' publishes thoughtful contributions that offer insights and perspectives extending knowledge and understanding of interdisciplinary research in the area of social sciences, Commerce & Management, Sciences, Languages etc. All research papers submitted to the journal are double-blind peer reviewed referred by members of the 'Editorial Board'; The journal welcomes manuscript submissions from academicians, scholars and practitioners for possible publication and any ideas for journal improvement.
